

DOCUMENT MANAGEMENT SOLUTIONS

Making your information work for you

Document Management Solutions

Outsource processes to achieve efficiencies, innovations and best in class service delivery.

Channel energy, resources and expertise into your core business activity

Companies face increasing pressure to improve business efficiency in order to reduce costs and remain competitive. One way to achieve this is by outsourcing non-core activities to business support specialists, so they can focus totally on their core business.

Support functions are often the source of problems as companies stretch in-house resources to meet challenges best tackled using specialist outside expertise.

The global trend towards outsourcing is further accelerated as more companies come to realise how it can enable them to provide better customer service, which in turn delivers real competitive advantage.

"Records Management has now moved from the back room to the board room."

Information is the lifeblood of any business organisation, but internal processes are considered a necessity rather than as an area to add value. Iron Mountain's records and information management products maintain the business value of your information, but also improve overall business efficiency. In-depth expertise in business processes includes identifying information that needs to be kept for regulatory compliance.

Improving access to information

Improving the visibility and accessibility of information will leverage records-based information as a resource within your organisation. Iron Mountain recognises that information is a valuable corporate asset and we can make your business-critical information work for you, through our range of services and consultancy expertise.

Enhancing processing efficiency and cost-effectiveness

Identifying and re-engineering expensive paper-intensive workflow processes helps to control the costs of managing information. Iron Mountain develops and implements business systems and processes that streamline business processes, adding value and increasing efficiency.

Ensuring regulatory compliance

To achieve full regulatory compliance, records and information management must be an enterprise-wide initiative, bringing in everyone from the boardroom down. Iron Mountain can manage the flow of information at all levels, and through all stages in its lifetime – from generation to destruction – to help you achieve and maintain a compliant records management programme.

Iron Mountains suite of Records and Information Management DMS product offerings are listed below. The benefits that can be derived from implementing these products with the worldwide industry leader are also illustrated.
